Dear Sir,

Thank you for your email. We went through the article and made some changes.

The edited paper in document format is attached to this email as Author Re-edited AMachineLearningApproachtoidentifyFakeNews.docx.

The pdf version of the paper is also attached as Author Re-edited AMachineLearningApproachtoiden tifyFakeNews.pdf.

Likewise, the changes we made have been highlighted in yellow in the attachment Highlighted AMachineLearningApproachtoidentifyFakeNews.pdf.

While going through the press document you sent, we found view things that we couldn't see.

1. The title of the paper we sent was A Machine Learning Approach to Identify Fake News while the article had A Machine Learning Approach t Identify Fake News, an alphabet missed.
2. The full form of the acronyms used in the tables (page 43.45 and 46) were mentioned in smaller font size in our version of the paper but, we found it the same font size as other text in the press document you sent. Is it supposed to be of the same font (size 12) as other text? We couldn't find such example in your template.

Apart from the changes we made in the document, we had a few questions related to the publication.

1. Where is the paper being published; the name of the publication and some details about it?
2. Which website is the paper being published? Is there a web portal?

We are all affiliated with the same university, Department of Computer Science and Engineering, Kathmandu University, Nepal; we have mentioned this in the Corresponding Author section as well. At last, we have a request for you. Can we get the final version of the paper before production? So that we could go through the paper again and see if the details we mentioned are going to be published as intended?

Thank you!

Regards,
Jasmin Karki
